Marset Gambosa Table Lamp

Marset Gambosa is a contemporary table lamp that plays with balance, geometry and colour. Formed from steel with an optional opal polycarbonate shade, it strips the silhouette back to three clear elements and lets them interact. The curved shade is offset from the stem, so it appears to hover rather than sit directly above the base, while the flat circular foot provides stability. A visible cable drops from the top of the lamp and is guided down by a small clip, turning a functional detail into part of the composition.

Offered in two sizes, Gambosa S and Gambosa M, the lamp can be scaled for bedside tables, desks, shelving or larger console surfaces. The opaque black and pink shades create a more direct pool of downward light, ideal for reading or accent lighting, whereas the opal diffuser gives a softer, more enveloping glow that works well for background ambience. Each version uses E14 bulbs, so the light output can be tailored through the choice of lamp, and the warm, layered colour combinations mean the piece can sit quietly in a scheme or act as a more confident accent in living rooms or bedrooms.
