Nuura Anoli Spot Wall Light

Nuura Anoli Spot Wall Light provides focused light from a rotating arm and pivoting shade. Designed by Sofie Refer, it takes the Anoli collection's raindrop form and turns it into a practical wall-mounted light, with a curved metal arm and drop-shaped shade that can be adjusted to suit the task.

Available in black and white, each version combines a metal body with solid brass details and a fabric cable. The adjustable shade makes it useful beside a bed, above a small kitchen table, or next to a reading chair, where the light can be directed towards the surface below. Its circular wall plate places the control within easy reach.

A rotary on/off dimmer is built into the base, allowing the light output to be changed directly from the fitting when used with a compatible dimmable lamp. Part of the wider Nuura Anoli collection, the Spot Wall Light shares the same curved profile as the pendant, surface, recessed, and track versions. Most suited to bedrooms, reading corners, kitchens, dining areas, and hospitality interiors requiring adjustable task lighting.
