Catellani & Smith Lucenera 500 LED Table Lamp

The Lucenera table lamp was designed by Enzo Catellani with function and elegance in mind. This stylish desk lamp is available in a sleek black carbon fiber finish or a white techno fiber finish, both are lightweight and give the lamp a modern look. Along with the small metallic details, the Lucenera 500 table lamp is a stunning feature for your desk, workspace, or bedside.

The appearance of this lamp does not compromise its practicality. With an on/off switch attached to the cable, it is easily switched on and off. However, the Lucenera table lamp has another adaptable feature that allows you to adjust the volume and intensity of the light beam. The elongated metallic rod at the back of the shade can be pushed forward and pulled backward to move the bulb within the shade either closer to the end of the tube or further in. This simple mechanism is an easy and ingenious way in which you can alter the light beam to make it ideal for the task or the space it is in.
