Designer: Atelier Van Lieshout

Moooi Statistocrat Floor Lamp

The Statistocrat Floor Lamp was created by Atelier van Lieshout, a design studio founded by sculptor, painter and visionary Joep van Lieshout. Van Lieshout is renowned for his installations, buildings, and furniture that blur the lines between easy, clean design and non-functional, dystopian design. The Statistocrat Floor Lamp leans more towards the former, featuring a sleek profile and functional elements. The tall aluminium tower stands at two meters and features a cluster of cylindrical shades.

When lit, the Statistocrat Floor Lamp creates all-embracing light beams. The tallest shade at the top of the lamp projects light onto the ceiling, creating a soft reflected glow. The wider shade directs light downwards, perfect for reading. At the bottom, a wide cylindrical base acts as a useful side table, illuminated by the shade above. The Statistocrat Floor Lamp boasts an extensive colour palette, with 25 vibrant colourways to choose from. Each lamp features Joep van Lieshout's signature raw weld finish, adding a touch of character to the piece. The Statistocrat Floor Lamp suits contemporary, minimal interiors, both in domestic and commercial environments.
