Marset Ginger LED Table Lamp

Marset Ginger LED Table Lamp is a reflected table light by Joan Gaspar, built around the thin circular shade that defines the wider Ginger collection. The wood diffuser is made from layers of wood, paper, and resin pressed together under high pressure, creating a slim laminate that keeps the warmth of natural oak or wenge without making the shade feel heavy.

The table lamp is available in two sizes, Ginger S and Ginger M. Ginger S is the more compact version, making it a good fit for bedside tables, side tables, shelves, and smaller living spaces. Ginger M has a wider shade and more presence, so it works better on larger sideboards, consoles, lounge tables, hotel furniture, and commercial seating areas. Both versions use a pressed wood base with a simple black stem, keeping the focus on the thin circular shade and the reflected light below it.

The integrated LED gives warm 2700K light, and the in-line dimmer allows the output to be adjusted from a brighter table light to a softer evening level. Ginger works well where a table lamp needs to bring low, comfortable light to a room without relying on a large fabric shade. Most suited to living rooms, bedrooms, side tables, consoles, shelves, hotels, restaurants, and lounge areas where a table lamp can provide soft reflected light.
