Le Klint Caché Floor Lamp

The Caché floor lamp was designed by Aurélien Barbry in 2014 as part of the Le Klint Caché Collection. Barbry's designs are renowned for their simple forms, showcasing sleek profiles that are free from unnecessary clutter. The Caché floor lamp is an excellent example of this design philosophy. Its geometric frame creates a contemporary aesthetic. Brass detailing adorns the top of the shade, an ornamental element that adds a touch of elegance.

The Caché floor lamp has an angled arm, perfect for use as a reading light next to a sofa. A hand-pleated diffuser is neatly tucked into the metal shade, providing glare-free, ambient lighting. This hand-pleated element is synonymous with Le Klint, who use the same technique to create lampshades across its brand. Display with the Caché pendant for a unifying theme. In commercial spaces, the Caché floor lamp can be used in hotel lobbies to add a welcoming ambience to the space.
