In The Tube 100-350 Wall Light by DCW éditions

Designed by Dominique Perrault and Gaëlle Lauriot-Prévost, the In The Tube 100-350 wall lamp brings industrial design paired with delicacy and refinement. Born from the idea of creating a piece that is unknown, original and timeless, this wall light combines many elements. The diffusers are made from a metal mesh with an internal metal reflector that is surrounded by borosilicate glass. The light bulb is diffused creating a warm glow and reflects off the structure to create a unique illumination.

The In The Tube 100-350 is available in various colour combinations with the choice between a gold or silver reflector, black or transparent stoppers and a gold or silver mesh diffuser. The various choices means you can find the right effect for your space as each finish produces its own ambience. A stunning and stylish wall lamp, the In The Tube 100-350 is suitable for many settings and applications and can be used both indoors and outdoors. Also match with other lights from the DCW éditions In The Tube collection for a consistent light scheme.
