Luceplan Lita Table Lamp

The Luceplan Lita Table Lamp is a stripped back version of the Lita Stemmed Table Lamp, perfect for spaces that require a more subtle touch of light. The lamp consists of a beautiful hand blown glass diffuser which sits atop a simple brass disk, which serves as a base. The surface of this diffuser boasts soft ridges, offering an expressive touch to an otherwise minimalistic lamp whilst simultaneously adding a burst of personality to your room.

With a wooden finish the table lamp produces an organic element for your room perfect for more minimalistic décor styles, whereas the painted white adds a modern touch and is a great addition for contemporary spaces.

The Luceplan Lita Table Lamp produces a gentle and even light, with the glass processing producing a harmonious lighting effect in your space. Lita is not only a decorative accessory even when it is turned off, but also provides incomparable mood lighting. Whether it is used as a light on your bedside table in the bedroom, a reading light next to your sofa or as accent lighting on your coffee table, Lita creates a very cosy atmosphere.
