Sammode Studio Pierre Guariche G21 Reading Floor Lamp

Designed in 1951 by renowned French designer Pierre Guariche, the G21 reading lamp is the perfect source of precise, warm accent lighting. The G21's brushed and lacquered brass frame is adjustable using a sliding rod to set the lamp height for adjustable and directional light output. The metal shade was used by Pierre Guariche to protect eyes against direct light source and to direct the light for task purposes.

The G21 reading floor light has a lacquered brushed brass frame with either a white or black shade with a white interior, both available with a perforated and a non perforated option.
