Marset Scantling P73 Floor Lamp

The Scantling P73 floor lamp was designed by Mathias Hahn in 2010. The floor lamp combines the two contrasting elements of wood and metal, working together to create a stylish and modern light. The design emphasises geometric shapes and clean lines, producing a lamp that is both homely and organic.

The Scantling P73 floor light has an adjustable arm and shade so you can direct the light where you need it. Perfect as a reading or task light, this floor lamp can be utilised in a wide variety of settings both at home and in the workplace. The floor light is available in a black or white colour so you can find the right finish for your space and the arm is made from gorgeous solid oak to add a touch of naturalness.
