Spiral Mini Pendant by Verpan

The Spiral Mini Pendant by Verpan was designed by Verner Pantton in 1969 with the aim of designing a ceiling lamp that combines light, movement and sound. This iconic design creates a generous outpouring of light through the spiralled shade. The pendant light's playful design interacts with the environment around it as air movement causes the shade to create an iconic chiming sound.

This classic ceiling lamp is a striking feature individually or as a cluster and can add an elegance touch to any space. Verpan described this lamp as being suitable for all environments, from hospitality to your home, the Spiral Mini Pendant is highly adaptable for multiple spaces.
