Axolight Polia LED Wall Light

We currently have limited stock of one of these items in our Clearance section.

The Polia wall light was designed by Manuel Vivian for the Italian lighting company, Axolight. Vivian's designs are influenced by his fascination with how light interacts with space. The layers of curved steel beautifully showcase this fascination. The lightweight design resembles the rustling of pages in the wind, creating a deceptively delicate-looking lamp that exudes a sense of weightlessness.

When illuminated, the integrated LED casts light in all directions. The curved sheets of metal filter light upwards and outwards, creating a dynamic play of light and shadows and bathing the surrounding space in a warm glow. This eye-catching illumination is perfect for creating a welcoming atmosphere while adding a unique personality to living rooms or lining the length of long hallways.

Due to the craftsmanship needed to create the Polia, as well as the special finishing process, which is always done by hand, some subtle differences may occur in the appearance and shades. These variations ensure you have a truly unique piece.
