Verpan Fun-10DM Suspension light

The Verpan Fun-10DM Suspension light is part of the iconic FUN collection designed by Verner Panton in 1964. Described as 'a rebel' in the world of interior design, Verner Panton has been named one of the most prominent designers of the 20th century. This is due to designs such as this which showcase the beauty of nature with its mass of seashell discs. The discs are strung up by delicately small metallic rings which allow the discs to move in the air and create a chiming sound which has quickly become iconic to the Verpan brand.

The seashells also naturally diffuse the light whilst also allowing for a generous outpouring of light into the room. This iconic ceiling lamp is a striking visual feature as well as creating a soft light which illuminates the fine details within the seashell discs.
