Flos Viscontea Pendant Light

The Visontea Pendant Light originally created by design duo Pier Giacomo and Achille Castiglioni in 1960, was re-released by Flos in 2005. Part of the Cocoon range by Flos, including the Taraxacum, the Viscontea Pendant is created from the same white powder-coated internal steel structure, and sprayed with a unique cocoon resin to create the diffuser, which is then protected by a transparent sprayed-on finish. The result is an elegant ambient lighting solution that can be suspended in a range of interiors.

The striking Flos Viscontea Pendant Light is unconventional and mysterious, and provides a subtle and diffused light, generating a relaxed atmosphere. This oversized luminaire is ideal for spaces in the hotel, hospitality, leisure and education industries, and also suits larger residential spaces. It can be displayed individually or in multiples.
